

7. Managing Your Manager

The key relationship that often dictates your staff's success in a role is their relationship with their manager. These are rarely perfect but with the guidance in this Skillpod, they can be optimised.

Let's Be Honest

Your staff should start by being aware of, and comfortable with, their own strengths and weaknesses as well as their managers.

Scoring Goals

When staff understand their own ability to contribute, they can align them with the goals and priorities of their manager and/or company.

D.A.M.N. Bosses

This Skillpod also addresses how your staff can manage less-than-perfect bosses to achieve the goals/priorities set for them.

Contact lene@theglassceilingproject.com to help your staff to access this skillset.

"Lene made a true and significant difference to my approach to the next steps of my career. She is intuitive, assertive and a true inspirational leader."

Gemma Arregui
Head of Operations, G-Kaizen

THE GLASS
CEILING
PROJECT